Sen. Cantwell calls on FTC to investigate allegations Facebook misled advertising customers, public on platform safety, ad reach

"Facebook's representations to advertisers take on even greater importance given Facebook's large share of the digital advertising space."

U.S. Senator Maria Cantwell (D-Washington), chair of the Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation, wrote Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Chair Lina Khan to urge the FTC to investigate allegations Meta/Facebook misled its advertising customers and the public in its claims about ensuring brand safety and the reach of its advertisements, in violation of federal law prohibiting unfair or deceptive acts or practices in trade or commerce.
